ROHS Advanced Academics: Pre AP, AP, & Dual Credit

Recommendations for Success:

- ✓ Success in pre-requisite courses & STAAR exams
- ✓ A if regular course / B & above if honors course
- ✓ Advanced levels on STAAR tests
- ✓ Take courses in your areas of strength
- ✓ Do not take too many at a time
- ✓ Consider other obligations

Points to Remember:

- ✓ The decision to start college coursework is a major life decision because all courses/grades will be recorded on your college transcript.
- ✓ Many Pre AP/AP courses have summer requirements so you are responsible for checking with those teachers before you leave for the summer.

- AP courses are challenging college level courses, with the curriculum audited and teachers trained and certified by the College Board, maker of the SAT test.
- AP credit is given based on the score the student earns on the AP test at the end of the course. If the score requirement is met for your college of interest, that college could award you between 3 and 6 hours of credit for the price of that one test.
- AP courses do not have a fee; however, there is a fee for the test, which is typically just under $100.

Dual Credit Tracks:

Dual Academic- courses are accepted by public colleges/universities as part of their core curriculum and applied to most Associate and Bachelors degrees. Visit the Texas Common Course Numbering website at <http://www.tccns.org/> to determine transferability to your college.
